Being advocates of social change is a multilayered, full-time gig, therefore we have to adapt with the times ensuring that we can offer our community partners maximum social impact. Since the launch of the original Eco-Bungalow the world has advanced and so has the potential to create sustainable change.

In early 2016 our community owned Eco-Bungalows were listed on Airbnb for the first time, allowing their existence and services to be exposed to wider audiences. This demonstrates how social change is limitless as it filters across borders and onto platforms all over the world. This has led to an upsurge in bookings and thus an increase in village income, as the new generation of responsible travelers can learn about and be part of the Eco-Bungalow initiative before they even arrive in Laos! When will you book in?

This is only the start! Our growth has allowed us to open two new Eco hubs in Thailand and Nepal, where we work with low socio-economic communities for social and environmental change. So as 2018 starts....make the resolution....and join the global effort with World Volunteer!
